NEWS FROM CANDAHAR.

A Further Direct from Candahar—Gen Burrows' Fight with Yakoob Khan—Loss—Retreat etc

LONDON Aug 5—The viceroy of India telegraphs the following report from General St John under date of Candahar, July 28th

Gen Burrows marched from Kushk-i-Nakhud on the morning of the 27th having heard that Ayoob Khan's advanced guard had occupied the main road three miles from the latter place The enemy's cavalry appeared advancing from the direction of Hyderabad The artillery and cavalry engaged them about 9 o clock in the morning Shortly afterward the whole force of the enemy appeared and formed in line of battle with seven regiments of regulars in the center three other in reserve two thousand cavalry on the right four hundred cavalry and two thousand regular infantry on the left and other cavalry and irregulars in reserve, and five or six batteries of guns including one of breech loaders the total force being 12,000 The ground was slightly undulating The enemy were posted in the best position and until 1 P M the action was confined to artillery fire which was so well sustained and directed by the enemy that our superior armament failed to compensate for the inferior number of guns After the rifle fire began, our breech loaders told, but the vigorous advance of the cavalry against our left and of the ghazis along the front caused the native infantry to fall back in confusion on the 66th regiment, abandoning two guns

Our formation being lost, the infantry retreated slowly in spite of the gallant efforts of Gen Burrows to rally them, and were cut off from the cavalry and artillery This was at 3 o clock in the afternoon, and the camp-followers and baggage were streaming towards Candahar After a severe fight in closed ground Gen. Burrows succeeded in extricating his infantry and brought them into line in retreat No efforts would turn the fugitives from the main road, which is without water at this season of the year, and this is the majority of the casualties occurred from men falling from thirst and exhaustion The enemy's pursuit continued to within ten miles of Candahar, but was not vigorous The cavalry and artillery, with a few infantry reached the banks of the river Argandale forty miles from the scene of the action, at 7 o'clock the next morning, many not having tasted water since the previous morning Nearly all of our ammunition was lost, as also were 1100 rifles and two nine pounder guns Our loss is estimated as follows Killed and missing of the 66th regiment, 400, grenadiers 350 Jacobs' rifles, 350, artillery, 40, sappers 24 cavalry, 60 The Durans have been expelled from Candahar Provisions and ammunition are plentiful

Gen. Roberts' Expedition.

The Times says We are by no means sure that the proposed expedition of General Roberts to Candahar is wise, strategically or politically The march from Cabul to Candahar would occupy nearly five weeks and the column would have to cut off all connections with Cabul It might happen that the force would be wanted after relieving Candahar to return to Cabul It would however, be so distant that it could not return in time to deal with any sudden emergency There is no reason for supposing that the garrison of Candahar and Khelat Ghilzai will be able to hold out another six weeks

NOTES FROM CAMAS PRAIRIE

[OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN

CAMAS PRAIRIE W T Aug 2.

What is now known as Camas prairie was, but a few years ago nothing but a wilderness scarcely known to the white man For ages it has been known to the red man as his summer resort for the purpose of hunting fishing gathering berries and racing Their trails can be seen coming from the Simcoe White Salmon and Klickitat counties all centering in this secluded little valley But a different state of affairs is now discernible in this valley There are now about 100 families besides many bachelors, the groves are fast being cleared and the grinding grist is pouring from the burrs

Heretofore this Camas Prairie had very imperfect means of communication with the other parts of the same county but on the 28th of June last there was completed the surveys of the three county roads. The first leads from Goldendale to the southwestern part of the valley a distance of 34 miles a second from this point of termination to the mouth of White Salmon river a distance of 4[illegible] miles Heretofore this was considered the shortest route but the third road leads from the valley to the Klickitat landing a distance of [illegible] miles The last is by far the best route and will be opened by fall

To one who has never seen this valley it would now appear to be the garden spot of the Northwest The wild meadow grass surpassing any that ever grew in the Willamette at any period however early and this makes it a perfect fairy country A great many settlers have due crops in a season which is quite a contrast with the Klickitat and Alderfreek countries

A sawmill is much needed in this place we hope some enterprising capitalist will lend a helping hand

Several citizens from Portland and other parts have located here this spring

Creed of the Independent Voter.

[Horace White in the International Review]

The independents look upon the republican party as composed in the main of untrustworthy leaders and honest masses and upon the democratic party as composed in the main of honest leaders and untrustworthy masses As regards principles and policies they perceive no difference between the two except upon finance where the republican party is decidedly safer

Is It Really Worth While?

[From the N Y World July 24]

The question whether it is really worth the while to shift the control of the federal government to the democrats considering the miscellaneous make up of their party and the obligations it will incur in the event of a victory achieved by coalitions with Maine greenbackers Pennsylvania protectionists Indiana inflationists and Virginia repudiators is the present key note of the republican canvass For the present the republicans are holding their own in the campaign, if not positively gaining ground against their opponents who are still wasting themselves in frothy carousings and self gratulations It is utterly profitless for democratic managers to be lounging around headquarters in New York boasting and bragging of the certainty of General Hancock's success No mere boasts and brags will suffice to infect the people with that conviction so long as they see the republican canvass in steady, vigorous, operation, filling the public ear everywhere with admirably ingenious arguments addressed to memory and reason like the speech of Secretary Schurz while nothing is visible on the other side to counterbalance them

Significant.

From the Dallas Times]

Happening to be on one of our great river steamers the other day we noticed on the table of the news boy two packages of newspapers which we studied for a little The one was a large pile of clean faced open type finely gotten up and splendidly edited papers evidently a favorite in the intellectual market and the other a small poorly printed and indifferently edited one We noticed that they were both printed in the same city and on looking further observed that the first named was being read by the denizens all over the boat Two persons had the latter in their hands and appeared to be slowly spelling out their doubtful contents Need the reader be told that the first was THE DAILY OREGONIAN and the last the Daily Standard? And is there anything in the size quality appearance and ability of the papers that types the parties they represent? Should not wonder if there was at all events this kind of newspaper significance runs all the way through

CALIFORNIA CAMPAIGN

SECRETARY THOMPSON'S SPEECH IN SAN FRANCISCO

A Review of the Situation—He Sees no Reason for Ousting the Republicans but Many Why the Democracy Should be Kept Out.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN

SAN FRANCISCO Aug 5—A splendid audience greeted Secretary Thompson at the Grand Opera House last night The dress circle and boxes were crowded with ladies. The stage was handsomely set and the proscenium arch was draped with the national colors Among the gentlemen on the platform was Gov Perkins Gen Morrow called the meeting to order and designated Congressman Davis as the presiding officer, who with a few remarks, introduced Secretary Thompson

The speaker premised that he came to the coast on official not political business but believing there was nothing in the rules of civil service to prevent his performing his duties as a citizen he had responded to an invitation of citizens to address them on public topics He paid a compliment to the personal character of the democratic leaders who he was willing to trust with everything except the government of the country He then reviewed the history of the republican party which found the nation bankrupt, conducted it through the most gigantic war the world ever saw and had placed it on a firm financial foundation with its bonds at a premium debt and interest reduced and the national currency at par Trade that was languishing revived and instead of going steadily and rapidly in debt the balance of trade is now in our favor and the country is the most prosperous and powerful on earth There were then no reasons that the republican party should be put out of power but many that the democratic party should be kept out. He had come to the conclusion on fifty years reflection that by virtue of its principles and its aims it was impossible for the democratic party to take care of and administer this government. He then reviewed the principles of democracy as enunciated in the platforms put forth from time to time, showing that with a single exception they were all negative in character—that exception was the Virginia resolutions of 98. The democracy had opposed the national currency and internal improvements on the ground of a tendency to the centralization of power and tariff which had protected us from competition of European pauper labor He also dwelt upon secession and the war record of the democracy and resolutions in the platform of the national convention of 1864 declaring the war a failure The republican party had killed slavery given the ballot to blacks and effected reconstruction which the democracy in the platform of 1868 had declared void In 1876 they had nothing to say on that subject but throughout the work of reconstruction the democracy had been found impeding it at every step

He then reviewed President Johnson's reconstruction policy and the action of Hancock in Louisiana in attempting to carry out the president's ideas in defiance of the laws of congress in which he was checkmated by Gen Grant Next summer, in 1868 the democratic national convention gave Hancock 144½ votes and a few days after Hancock wrote a letter endorsing the action of that convention which had declared the process of reconstruction void He then read an extract from Hancock's letter to Sherman, recently published and criticised the statement therein that it might become the province of an army officer to disobey orders of superiors.

He then referred to the policy of Hayes in ordering the withdrawal of troops from the south on the promise of the south that all parties should have fair play, and stigmatized its subsequent treachery He held that the question at issue in that connection was not that of interference of troops at the polls with the rights of voters but the attempt on the part of states rights men to take from the government the control over the election of national officials and representatives. He quoted Garfield's letter of acceptance to show that he fully recognized that point He further held that while democracy had abandoned the doctrine of secession, it still held to that of nullification by which they would block national legislation After comparing the military record of Hancock as a regular with that of Garfield he delivered a brilliant eulogy on the latter as a soldier statesman and citizen. After a brief and able defense of the so-called larceny of the presidency he referred to the danger of a similar electoral complication in the future, and compared Edmunds's bill for leaving the decision of the manner of casting the electoral votes with the states with the let alone policy of the democracy with the view of leaving the matter for congress to settle but concluded that the people would work out any such complications to successful conclusions.

He then brought down the house with roars of applause by his direct outspoken and pungent treatment of the Chinese question. The country held out open arms to all people of the world except those who came in the guise of invaders as the Chinese have infested California It was the duty of the government to say to them "Thus far shalt thou come and no further The people might draw wisdom on the subject from Garfield's letter of acceptance and then compare it with Hancock's silence on the subject. The question of Chinese immigration challenges the wisest statesmanship of the land and can be solved only in one way—stop it The speaker closed amid great applause with a brilliant peroration upon the duties of citizens and national destiny

The speech throughout was argumentative eloquent and effective, and repeatedly drew down the most enthusiastic applause. Secretary Thompson, though stricken in years, seems to have lost none of the fire and vitality of youth, and closed his two hours' effort without the least appearance of fatigue The meeting closed with rousing cheers for the speaker and ticket

Another Demand for the "Expert"

[From the Evening Telegram]

We learn that about two hundred copies of the amended complaint in the case of the State vs W H Watkinds have been printed at a cost of about $170 and the bill for printing them has been presented to the state for payment Inasmuch as there appears to have been no necessity for so many copies or for printing any copies at all Mr Earhart secretary of state very properly declined to audit the bill and it will be necessary, perhaps, to have Tony "the expert" measure it Tony's relations to the administration are much more amicable than they were when the investigating committee made the report upon which this suit against Watkinds is based and he will probably be able to get the bill through But Mr Earhart will still be entitled to credit for having resisted the payment of such an unnecessary expenditure

A Grant-Flood Combination.

CHICAGO July 25—A special to the Times from New York says It is said that the youthful Ulysses Grant who for the past few years has been one of the most successful speculators in the country has been instrumental in placing his father at the head of a gigantic mining company and has succeeded in forming a union of the Grant and Flood families The aggregation of wealth that will follow the family junction will prove the most formidable in point of influence in the country In 1884 if Grant should again be a candidate, it is intended that there shall be nothing lacking for the management of a successful campaign

The cars on the narrow gauge road make daily trips to Sheridan Perrydale and Dallas They have a turn table at Dayton and Sheridan and one at a point one mile and a half west of Perrydale and they are now making one at Dallas Including their own materials from Dayton and tonnage for others quite a brisk business is done on this road The cars connect with the steamers at Dayton forming a continuous line to Portland

Clearing House Comments for July—A Wonderful Increase in Business in Every Branch—The Country's Trade.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.)

NEW YORK Aug 5—The Public will to-morrow omit its regular weekly table of clearing house exchange transactions and publish that of the entire month of July instead The Public comments thereon as follows July has been a month of remarkably large business The exports have been larger than in June, exceeding the imports, it is probable by about $12 000 000, and the interior movement of products have been unprecedented for the season For example the movement of grain at Buffalo was incomparably the largest ever known in July and the movement of cotton considering the lateness of the season, was remarkably large in manufactories also a very heavy business was done and the interruptions of work were few, and the demand for the products seemed to tread closely on the heels of the supply in nearly all important branches An encouraging revival in the iron business was noticed though it was due mainly to the extraordinary demand of builders of new railroads in every part of the country The local and retail trade was unusually active also without any dangerous upward rush in prices July is usually one of the months in which transactions are smallest In 1880 as in 1879 all ordinary rules appear to be disregarded in the resistless forward movement of commerce and industry The exchanges for the month show an increase of 250 per cent, in the aggregate though a comparison is with returns which showed an increase of 209 per cent over those of July 1879 Outside of New York the increase is 198 per cent, though the increase of July of last year was 193 per cent.

JOHNSON AND HANCOCK

General Hancock was not nominated on account of his services in the war The real source of his strength in the convention was the record he had made as a commander in the south where as an agent of Andrew Johnson he attempted to defeat the reconstruction acts and nullify the guarantees which the country had demanded as necessary to secure the fruits of the war As Andrew Johnson was beaten in his attempts, though seconded by General Hancock it is not apparent why the latter, who has been nominated for the part he bore in that political scheme which the country so emphatically repudiated should be advanced to the presidency now The s dership of Hancock is only the mask of democracy in the north His real strength wi h the party from which he has secured his nomination is found in the fact that he was a supporter of the Johnson policy. As the Chicago Tribune well puts it order No 40, and the events grouped about that order, constitute his sole claim with his party to the presidential office' Undoubtedly it is true that he never would have been thought of for the presidency except for the fact that he was appointed military governor in the south in 1867 And if when appointed, and upon the assumption of the duties of the office, he had obeyed the spirit and letter of the laws by virtue of which he held his position, he never could have done anything to commend him to the democratic party as a candidate. Had he sought as military governor, as General Sheridan and others did, to protect the just rights of loyal white and black men against the outrageous treatment and murderous assaults of rebel enemies, he would no more be esteemed by his present party for such discharge of duty than he was by this same party for his conduct at Gettysburg. What he did to entitle him to the highest regard of the party whose candidate he now is may be summed up in this statement First, he banished the law by virtue of which he received his appointment and set up his own will in its place. Second, though congress had declared that the rebel state governments of the south had no legal existence, and had directed him by law to administer temporary government in accord with the reconstruction acts, he answered in effect that he cared nothing for congress, that the old rebel state governments were in full force and effect, that the declarations of congress in regard to the status of the rebellious states were false, and that he should not obey them In short, Hancock antagonized the law in his endeavors to aid and uphold the attempted usurpation of Andrew Johnson The latter escaped impeachment by the skin of his teeth, and the former became the idol of the democratic party It was the attempt by Johnson, aided by Hancock, to support state tribunals pronounced illegal and void by acts of congress, that brought on the conflict in which Johnson was overcome. The "policy" was condemned then as usurpation, resorted to for the purpose of restoring to preponderance in the government those who had just been baffled in their efforts to destroy it As Johnson was condemned for it then, there would seem to be no reason why Hancock, his agent, should be approved now—especially since it is clear that Hancock has been nominated solely because of his endeavors to uphold that usurpation

A WITNESS FROM THE SOUTH

General Weaver, the greenback candidate for the presidency, has been south on a political mission, and is satisfied He has seen enough. For some days prior to the "election" last Monday in Alabama he was in that state On his return north he tells the country that "there has not been an election worthy of the name in Alabama for years," and that 'the voting is a farce throughout." Proceeding with his statement he says, 'They openly adopt every corrupt plan to solidify different precincts and invariably succeed' After detailing the methods by which the frauds are practised, he adds "Democrats openly boast of this infamous business and joke over the fact that sometimes after all the stuffing they have to fix up returns after the count." General Weaver has been in quite close relations with the democratic party for some years, and was one of those who has had much to say about Tilden having been swindled out of the last election. But the scales have now fallen from his eyes. Having been south and seen for himself, he makes this confession 'I used to think Tilden was fairly elected but he was not." The question now is whether the great fraud which was defeated four years ago shall be successful now. It came then within a hair's breadth of success, but often there are unseen agencies which bring wicked conspiracy to confusion A great crime very frequently defeats itself through singular want of foresight and rationality in the use of those very instruments of darkness through which it attempts to make its success certain Four years ago this party of fraud and force in elections"—to use the phrase which General Hancock so unctuously employs against his opponents,—at a time when the people of the northern states were not fully awake to the danger, almost succeeded in stealing the government through such methods as General Weaver has just witnessed in Alabama. But now the country is aroused to the infamy, and sees a deliberate attempt to repeat it The consequence will be a solid north against a solid south on the issue of free and fair elections just as there was a solid north against a solid south on the issues of the rebellion. It is impossible to believe that the northern people will permit this conspiracy to seize the government through frauds and infamies which strike at the very root of all the principles on which our political structure is based, to succeed. To suppose such a thing would be to despair of republican government The south wields 138 electoral votes, consolidated by the means which Weaver describes, and the conspirators who now have a scheme to rule the country through the crime of false elections as formerly they ruled it through the infamy of slavery, look to their northern alliance for the other forty seven votes necessary to success of the plan. It is a situation to awaken an indignation equal to that which burst forth when that other attempt was made to subvert the principles of republican government through rebellion organized at the south and encouraged at the north, and hence as the people of the northern states who believe in honest elections as in honesty in all things, see clearly what the southern conspiracy means and what methods it employs they will prepare themselves to say with an emphasis that cannot be misunderstood what they think about it

OREGON REPORTS

The seventh volume of the Oregon Reports comprising the cases heard and determined by our supreme court since its organization as a state tribunal is just issued The series is now growing to noticeable proportions The first three volumes are those reported by the late Judge Wilson, the last four are reported by Judge Bellinger The work has been well done as both reporters brought to it an acknowledged and peculiar fitness These seven volumes are now issued in a style which entitles them to a place in every law library Publication of these reports is an enterprise undertaken by A. L Bancroft & Co of San Francisco It is one of those undertakings which requires a good deal of money upon which publishers often have to wait long for returns But the series is now becoming so valuable that every lawyer must have it and it will become more valuable still as additions are made The price is five dollars a volume The general reputation of the publishers is a sufficient guarantee that their work has been executed in first rate style

In Washington territory there are many candidates for the republican nomination for congress Several excellent men have been spoken of any one of whom would make an efficient delegate Gov Ferry who is soon to vacate the position he now holds which will leave him out of office for the first time since 1856, is said to be managing matters with a view to setting aside all the rest and getting the nomination for himself This could not be done in any direct way but long experience as a professional office seeker has shown him that the direct way is not always the sure way So his present plan is to deny that he is a candidate and have his clique support all the others Then when they get into convention, try their strength and find that no one has a majority, some one is to propose that as the ex-governor is out of a job, he be made the nominee 'True," it will be said, he is not a candidate as he never cared for office, but then if this is offered it is likely he can be induced to take it.' Such an appeal, rightly timed, ought to prevail The only thing to be regretted about it is that some months will elapse between the time the governor is superseded in his present office and the beginning of his term as delegate but perhaps some little place can be made for him during these few months, so that the time will not be lost

The debt of the United States in August, 1865, was $2,756 431 571 July 1 1876 it was $695,506 230 less. The greatest decrease for any one year during that period was $127 884,-902 for the year ending June 30, 1867. The debt has been decreased by $67 779,803 during the first six months of this year The entire reduction from August 31, 1865 to July 1 1880, amounts to $837 104, 823 To this the reduction for July has added $5,576,053 more Republican management of the public debt and republican resistance to all the schemes of democratic inflationists and repudiators have been among the greatest triumphs of the party These are solid results which commend the party to the business judgment of the country.

Official treasury figures just published show that during forty years, while the government was in the control of the democratic party, the money stolen from the treasury or lost through incapable management, averaged $3 50 per $1000 During the last twenty years the amounts stolen or lost have been as follows. Under Lincoln, 76 cents per $1000, under Johnson, 67 cents per $1000, under Grant (two terms), 34 cents per $1000, and under Hayes so far, only 20 cents per $1000 This, as a contrast with the results of democratic administrations, is about as striking as the contrast in all other things.

Bishop Bowman of the M. E. church thinks Methodism is growing timid and self-conscious He directs attention to the fact that at the Chicago convention cultured men climbed upon the seats and waved flags, and screamed until they were hoarse—acted like boys in fact, yet the Methodists dare not shout now as they did in the good old days, because 'cultured people do not make a noise." The good bishop has no sympathy with the modern Methodists who are so overcome by culture that they whisper "amen" instead of making the rafters echo with a hearty response

The New York Herald says the record of the democratic party for the last twenty years is full of imbecilities, full of waste of virtuous opportunities, full of vacillations and of devotion to strange gods. The preservation of the party from utter destruction, its survival after such aberrations, the Herald regards as an instance of mercy in politics "as miraculous as the salvation of the Hebrews after their wanderings in the desert" The simile is good except in the matter of salvation. No such good fortune awaits these modern aberrations

The work of erecting the Washington monument has been resumed after a suspension of twenty years, and there is a reasonable hope that it will be continued to completion The foundations have been strengthened under the supervision of competent engineers, and an immense iron frame elevator has been constructed within the monument capable of sustaining a weight of 150 tons There remain some 400 feet of masonry to be laid, and the whole work will probably occupy three years, if no unnecessary delays occur

A dispatch from New Orleans the other day gave this "Hon E C. Hooker was nominated for congress to-day by the democrats of the fifth Mississippi district" This is one of those southern districts which deserve the attention of students of free institutions. In 1869 it cast 12 122 and in 1872 13 234 republican votes But in 1878 it cast only 697 republican votes, all told. It is one of those districts from which the returns preach eloquent sermons on Gen Hancock's text concerning "fraud and force" in elections.

California which had a population of 560,247 in 1870, has 862 665 now More than half the increase has been in counties bordering on San Francisco bay. The southern counties, however and especially Los Angeles, show a large increase. The mountain counties which were the cradle of the wealth of the state have advanced very little in population, while some of them have actually declined

By a recent order of the German cabinet horse-leather has been adopted as the material of which the boots issued to the sailors of the German navy are in the future to be made Experiments with horse-leather boots have been carried on for the last eighteen months, and with such satisfactory results that the use of calfskin is to be altogether abandoned in making naval boots and shoes

The issue of the extra session will be one of the principal issues in the coming election It was the main issue last year and will be again We can't let the democonfederate party off without submitting directly to the people the question that party then raised namely the declaration that it would wipe out the last vestige of war legislation That has not yet been condoned

Our telegraphic dispatches have given a highly promising account of a scheme by Jay Gould to build a railroad at once from Cheyenne to Puget Sound It would not be best perhaps in the absence of further information to jump to the conclusion that this will be immediately done

Reports from the east show that the republicans are pushing their campaign with activity while the democratic campaign lags and drags But English of Indiana they say will soon get a $2 bill changed and furnish the boys with something to wake them up

Dr Tanner has only one more day of fasting He will doubtless pull through Ex Mrs Tanner by the way, is becoming about as famous for her diet of pork and cabbage as her [illegible] for his diet of ice water and air only she is much the more sensible of the two

During the fiscal year which ended 30 h June last the imports of coin and bullion into the United States exceeded the exports of the same for the first time since 1861

OFFICE OF THE

PACIFIC MUTUAL

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF CALIFORNIA.

SACRAMENTO, July 1st 1880

To all Desirous of Securing the Benefits of Life Insurance:

The first consideration with applicants for life insurance is, or at least should be, SAFETY. Will the Money Paid out for the Policy be Prudently Invested? Are the Affairs of the Company Honestly and Efficiently Administered? When the Policy Becomes a Claim, will it be Promptly Paid, and thus the object which induced the payment of the premium be fully attained? These are queries naturally suggested, and the character of the answers determines the course of the questioner and the selection of his Company.

In this connection, the Managers of the PACIFIC MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY respectfully beg leave to submit the following facts and statements concerning their Company:

1 Since its organization A D 1868, it has paid 524 death losses, on policies amounting in the aggregate to $827,873.

2 It has Paid to Policy Holders, for Matured Endowments, Dividends, and Surrender Values, in Round Numbers, $1,000,000.

3 Its losses have been paid Promptly and without Litigation. No judgment ever from a Policy claim has ever been rendered against it and it has no suits of this character pending.

4 It has repeatedly been examined by Sworn Experts, and most thorough and searching investigations, made of its condition and business, and IN EVERY CASE its Solvency and Trustworthiness have been Demonstrated.

5 Its Stockholders and Directors are widely known as among the most capable business men and ablest financiers of the State of California and the integrity of their management is unquestioned

6 The laws of the State including the constitutional provisions affecting corporations, are of the most rigid character such as to make the Company one of the safest institutions of its kind

Section 3 of Article XII of the NEW CONSTITUTION of the State of California is as follows

Sec 3. Each stockholder of a corporation or joint stock association shall be individually and personally liable for such proportion of all its debts and liabilities contracted or incurred during the time he was a stockholder as the amount of stock or shares owned by him bears to the whole of the subscribed capital stock or shares of the corporation or association. The Directors or Trustees of corporations and joint stock associations shall be jointly and severally liable to the creditors and stockholders for all moneys embezzled or misappropriated by the officers of such corporation or joint stock association during the term of office of such Director or Trustee

7 Its policy contracts contain no restrictions upon residence or travel and its forms of insurance are unusually attractive The Low Rate, Deposit Endowment, and Mutual Investment Policies are peculiar to this Company and offer advantages to the insured which are not surpassed if equaled by those of any other Company

8 When desired, Policies can be registered by the Insurance Commissioners of California on the payment of a moderate fee and a policy holder in the PACIFIC MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY of California has then the absolute guarantee of the State of California that the money held by this Company against the contingency of his death is secured by bonds and mortgages deposited in the State Treasury With December 31st 1879 the Company closed its eleventh year, and in so doing affords the only instance on record in which a life insurance company in the eleventh year of its existence was enabled to pay its death losses from interest receipts not only was this done but in addition thereto a considerable surplus remained

Believing ourselves entitled to the confidence and business of such as propose effecting insurance upon human life we solicit their patronage and pledge ourselves to discharge to the best of our ability the important and sacred trust devolved upon us

EAST PORTLAND ROUTE.—Henry Warren has charge of the routes of THE OREGONIAN in East Portland and will make all collections for subscriptions there.

CITY.

DEATH OF COUNT POURTALES.—Many Portlanders will remember Count Pourtales who visited this city some seven years ago. He was the son in law of Ben Holladay his young wife dying on the train near Chicago while she was en route to her mother's home in New York. Count Louis Francois de Pourtales died July 19th, in Beverly Massachusetts. The count was a native of Neufchatel and was born March 4 1831. He was educated an engineer and came to this country about the same time as Agassiz whose pupil and fellow worker he became. After the death of Agassiz he was appointed keeper of the Museum of Comparative Zoology, which position he held at the time of his death. Count de Pourtales had been for some years an assistant of Professor Pierce in the United States coast survey and rendered a valuable aid to science by his researches, especially in deep sea soundings and dredging the bed of the ocean. The results obtained by him and other investigators he has laid down in maps which give a general idea of the geology or rather lithology, of the bottom of the ocean. He was author of the articles on the Atlantic Ocean and Deep Sea Dredging in Appleton's Cyclopædia.

CONVEYED TO LONE FIR CEMETERY.—Little Miss Rosa Rankin—whose bright young life on earth was hurled so suddenly into the unseen world from the high bridge at East Portland Wednesday—was interred yesterday at 2 P M from the Congregational church Holladay's Addition. The church was filled with sympathizing friends, and the universal sorrow found genuine expression in tears as the audience took a last look at the placid countenance of the innocent one in the embrace of death. The poor mother was well nigh distracted, and the father was borne down under the weight of this sudden and painful bereavement. The Sabbath school was present in full numbers and all mourned the death of one of their number so greatly beloved. Chaplain Stubbs officiated by request, and endeavored to minister comfort to the bereaved from the words spoken by the Saviour on a similar occasion—"The maid is not dead, but sleepeth." Passing over the high bridge from which she fell, we noticed workmen busy repairing the sidewalk and securing the loose plank. Pity this had not been done before.

VISITED TILLAMOOK ROCK.—The Astorian says Col G. L. Gillespie, U S engineer, on the tug Columbia, accompanied by Capt. Flavel, visited Tillamook rock on Tuesday. After crossing the bar the schooner Emily Stephens was sighted becalmed outside, the steamer Mary Taylor having cast her off after crossing the bar. As she had on board a cargo of material for the lighthouse on the rock, at the request of Col. Gillespie, the Columbia made for the schooner and towed her to the mooring buoy off the rock. Col Gillespie and Capt Flavel, by means of a box cage made for the purpose and blocks and tackle connected with the mast head of the schooner and the outstretching arm of the derrick on the shore, were landed upon the rock, and had an opportunity to examine the work that has been accomplished.

TURF AND FIELD.—The announcement which appeared in yesterday's OREGONIAN in relation to the grand fall meeting of the turf and sportsmen of the northwest, at the state fair grounds, commencing on Tuesday, Sept. 28th, and closing on Saturday, October 2d, contained several inaccuracies. These slight errors have all been corrected as will be observed by consulting the advertising columns.

When finished it will increase the capacity of the building so that the Sisters of Charity can accommodate all applicants for single rooms and have ample accommodations for one hundred and fifty patients in the several wards of the institution.

McCammon, experienced railroad men, leave this morning for Puyallup valley, where they will immediately commence the construction of a track for the Northern Pacific railroad from Wilkeson to the new Carbon Hill coal mine, the developments of which were mentioned in Monday's OREGONIAN.

The amusements will be prize glass ball shooting, horse racing, etc. A steamer will make three trips from here to the White House during the day. Particulars will be given in a few days.

LEG FRACTURED.—Mr. A. J. Walker, who resides on the Molalla, recently received a compound fracture of the leg just above the ankle. The accident was caused by the breakage of the coupling pole of the wagon in which he was riding. The fracture was reduced and Mr. Walker at last accounts was doing well.

FIRE AT SPOKAN FALLS.—A telegram was received in this city yesterday stating that a fire at Spokan Falls had destroyed six buildings. No particulars were given. J S Graham advised Corbitt & McCleay, and F R Moore telegraphed L Goldsmith & Co that they were uninjured by the fire.

THOUGHTS IN A CITY CHURCH.

Forgive the fault, if sometimes on Thy day,
And in Thine house, my prayer hath folded wing;
My spirit turned from Thee to things of sense,
And found delight in vain imagining.

Ah, cool and quiet places where men pray!
Without, the gentle sound of cawing rooks;
Within, the country faces flushed with health,
The white smocks bent above the dog eared books;

Soft breath of mignonette and scented thyme
From the warm hands of children sitting by,
And through the open door a veil of elm
Across the glory of the summer sky.

The sound of voices in the shady lane,
The trembling heat above some quiet mound.—
And here the sunbeam's painting on the wall,
The ivy's shimmering shadow on the ground;

And everywhere a presence, without name,
Subtle, ineffable—a spell, no more,—
Breathing from arch and elm, from flower and groin;
Ay, from the trodden stones upon the floor—

A something that we know is not, to-day,
A somewhat that gives strength to prayer and song;
And if we miss it, as we kneel to pray,
Art Thou extreme, O Lord, to mark it wrong?

Nay, for the desolate town was never Thine,
Unloveliness hath never part in Thee!
Yet where gross man has marred Thy handiwork,
Souls that he could not reach, are white and free.

So that I breathe the breath of fragrant lives,
And learn that where flowers sicken, hearts grow strong.
The better man within me cries, "Content!"
Albeit the weaker whispers still "How Long?"

PORTLAND, August 5, 1880.

Financially the local situation is unchanged, a fair demand ruling for loans at the rates prevailing for some time past, with a supply adequate to meet it. Loans on real estate are less frequent than they were earlier in the season, though as much is being done in that line as is usual in midsummer.

Bonded Steamships.

For a long time the merchants of this city have been endeavoring to secure an order of the customs department allowing bonded steamers on the route between San Francisco and Portland. To-day the collector of customs at this port notified S. G. Reed, Esq., vice president of the O. R. & N. Co., that the company's bonds as common carriers had been approved by the department. The notification is as follows:

CUSTOM HOUSE, PORTLAND,
COLLECTOR'S OFFICE, Aug. 5, 1880.

S. G. Reed, Esq., Vice President O. R. & N. Co.—DEAR SIR: I have the pleasure to inform you that I am in receipt of advices from the department, under date of the 24th ult., approving the bond of your company as common carriers, and you are from this date authorized to transport dutiable appraised merchandise in bond from the port of San Francisco, in the State of California, to the port of Portland, in the State of Oregon, and vice versa, in the following named steamships of said company, viz: Columbia, Oregon and Geo W. Elder, plying coastwise from the port of San Francisco, California, to the mouth of the Columbia river in the state of Oregon, and thence via the Columbia and Willamette rivers to the port of Portland, Oregon, and vice versa. Very respectfully your obedient servant,

JOHN KELLY, Collector.

Domestic Produce.

The amount of business doing in this department is fair for the season, but is never large in the month of July or the fore part of August. The wheat trade, new crop, has not fairly opened yet, though a few small lots have been received, showing a good quality, and all reports agree in predicting a heavy yield. Quotations have not fluctuated in the local market during the week, the very choicest lots being taken by millers at $1 45, while exporters' offers range from $1 35@1 40. Flour comes forward pretty freely, and the local trade is quite active with a light shipping demand. Standard brands are held at $4 75 per barrel, though in order to clear out old stocks and prepare for grinding new, some mills are willing to make concessions to heavy buyers.

Oats are in light request for export, and prices a little less firm at 40@43c per bushel for fair to good.

Potatoes dull at the quotations given below; onions quiet; seasonable fruits plentiful at low rates.

Provisions have slightly fallen off in supply and quotations for choice lots are very firm. Dairy products steady and eggs, which declined to 20c early in the week, have advanced to 22½c, but an over supply would again weaken the market.

The wool trade has declined in volume, the receipts for the 24 hours ending at noon to-day being only 20,000, against an average of over five times that quantity ten days ago.

Other products in fair request at quotations given.

THE REAL ESTATE MARKET.

The following special report of the real estate market is furnished THE OREGONIAN by Clark & Upton, real estate agents and architects:

The business of the week has fallen below average, both as regards to the number of transactions and the amount involved. The holiday season, the consequent absence of many of our most enterprising citizens, and the commencement of harvest, absorbing the attention of the rural population, are circumstances which invariably affect the real estate market at this season of the year. But although the transactions have been limited, public confidence has suffered no abatement. In every part of the city and suburbs the demands of sellers of real estate show a well developed appreciation of values.

During the past week 20 deeds were recorded, 13 were city, 4 East Portland and 3 country and suburban, the aggregate amount being $37,585 46. Of the city properties, the north end was represented by three sales in Couch's addition, amounting to $9050, the south end by 1 sale ($730) in Caruther's. For the first time in many weeks North Portland was without representation.

ENGLISH CROPS AND MARKETS.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

The Mark Lane Express in its review of the grain trade for the week ending last Monday, says: The weather has been very unsettled. Large tracts of grain all over the kingdom have been laid and twisted by rain, and the mildew which had appeared among wheat is increasing. Dry, warm weather is much needed to harden the grain. Harvest has already begun in Kent, barley being the earliest crop. Unless the weather becomes settled and fine, farmers' sanguine expectations relative to barley will hardly be realized, and good English malting descriptions will again be scarce. Oats have suffered less than other cereals.

The markets have been stiffly held for an advance in prices, and a strong feeling in trade is increasing, although July arrivals from abroad were over a million quarters of wheat and flour, yet English deliveries have been so scanty that a small reserve which existed at the beginning must be diminished nearly 400,000 quarters. August arrivals from abroad are likely to be good, but if deliveries of English wheat are practically nil, it will be difficult to meet the wants. Markets are likely to be sensitive for September. The market for forward delivery is of different character. American red winter is offered at about 7s below the price of old gray. England is taking an increased share of American grain shipments. Purchases for the continent have fallen to 100,000 quarters. There are a fair number of cargoes off coast, but buyers are reserved. Imports into the United Kingdom during the week ending July 24, were 1,051,089 cwt. wheat and 239,079 cwt. flour.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—The Commercial News to-day's market review says: There was no change in wheat yesterday, the demand being principally confined to supplying local wants. Holders of barley are encouraged by improvement in prices at the east, and are not anxious to sell at present prices. Choice Chevalier is in good demand, while anything below standard is entirely neglected. Corn is demoralized, owing to heavy arrivals which have been pressed on the market. Potatoes are firmer owing to a material falling off in receipts, which have enabled dealers to clean up the stock on hand. Fruits are without special change. As freight room on the China steamers is now largely engaged for tea but little rice is coming forward by steamer, which, with the desertion of the Sumatra at Yokohama, has so lessened supplies expected at this time that the market for all grades of China is firm and prices are higher. Island rice is steady at quotations.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

Office—No. 83 First street, between Oak and Pine.

Catarrhal

POISON

Wei De Meyer's Treatise on Catarrh, explains the following important facts:

1. That Catarrhal Colds become a poisonous infection, at first local, and finally constitutional.

2. That, being Constitutional, the infection is beyond the reach of mere local remedies.

3. That impurities in the nostrils, are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs, thus poisoning the Digestive, Respiratory and Genito-urinary organs.

4. That Catarrhal virus follows the mucous membrane and causes Deafness, Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhœa, Bronchitis, Leucorrhœa, and Consumption.

5. That Smokes, Douches, Inhalations, and Insoluble Snuffs, cannot possibly remove infectious inflammation from the organs named.

6. That an antidote for Catarrh must possess an inoculative affinity for, and the quality of being absorbed by, the purulent mucous wherever located.

Based upon these plain theories, Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure has proved to be infallible. It not only relieves, it cures Catarrh at any stage. Some testimony:

W. D. WOODS, 487 Broadway, N. Y., Cured of Chronic Catarrh.

F. J. HASLETT, 859 Broadway, N. Y., 4 y'rs Catarrh.

G. L. BRUSH, 443 Broadway, N. Y., 10 y'rs Catarrh.

S. BENEDICT, Jr., Jeweler, 697 Broadway, N. Y., (lady friend), cured of Chronic Hay Fever.

MRS. EMMA C. HOWES, 32 W. Washington Square, N. Y., cured of 30 years' Chronic Catarrh.

REV. GEO. A. REES, 169 Jay St., Brooklyn, "It restored me to my ministerial labors."

REV. CHAS. J. JONES, New Brighton, S. I., "Worth ten times the cost."

REV. ALEX. FREES, Cairo, N. Y., "It has worked wonders in six cases in my parish."

L. F. NEWMAN, 305 Fulton St., Brooklyn, cured of 4 years Chronic Catarrh.

MRS. J. SWARTZ, JR., 200 Warren St., Jersey City, cured of 18 years Chronic Catarrh.

&c. &c. &c. &c. &c.

A real cure for this terrible malady, is the most important discovery for the relief of human suffering, since vaccination. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure is sold by all Druggists, or delivered by D. B. Dewey & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y. for $1.50 a package. To Clubs, six packages for $7.50. Dr. Wei De Meyer's Treatise, with full explanations and overwhelming proofs, is Post-paid and sent free to anybody.
